C-S Panthers open wrestling season with big win over Avoca

Addison storms back with seven-straight wins to beat Alfred-Almond

From staff reports

CAMPBELL — Campbell-Savona opened its wrestling season with an impressive 48-18 victory over Avoca that featured six pins.

WORLDnews

In fact, the Panthers (1-0) earned points in every match that was contested on the mat Thursday.

"I was very pleased," said Campbell-Savona head coach Dom Scolaro. "We were very aggressive and we were hitting our moves."

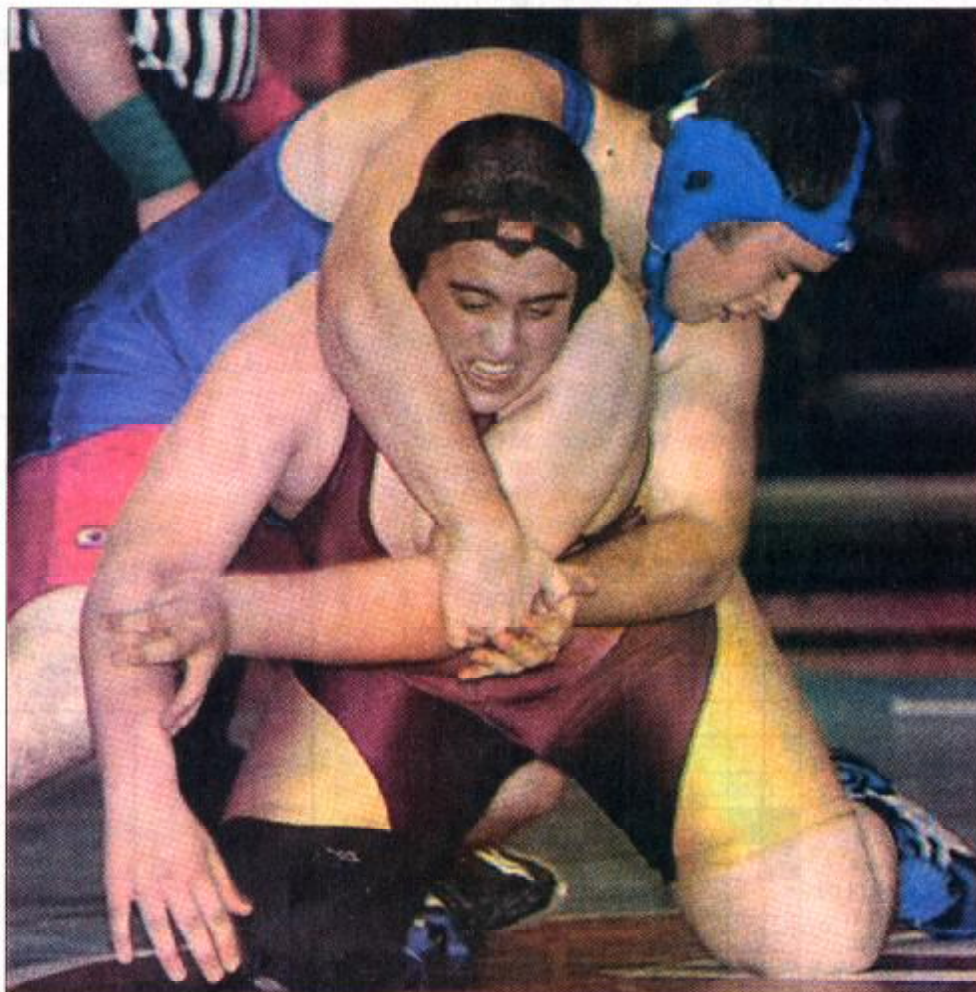

The match began at 145 pounds with Campbell-Savona's Justin Tombs earning a 9-6 decision over Avoca's Micah Fish-Gertz. Tombs jumped out to a 7-1 lead after two periods on the strength of a reversal and near fall in the second period. Fish-Gertz rallied in the third period with a takedown and near fall of his own, but a reversal by Tombs sealed the decision.

The second bout of the night was also a hard-fought decision with the Panthers' Jason Hyer out-pointing Jay Nicholson 12-7. A pair of takedowns and a near fall in the second period helped Hyer out-point his foe 8-1 — providing some cushion before the decision was final.

A pair of forfeit wins by Avoca's Justin Zeh (160 pounds) and Chris Hognoski (171) gave the Tigers a 12-6 lead in the match, but Campbell-Savona was ready to show its strength in the upper weights.

Kaleb Drake began a pin-fest with a one minute stopfrom breaking records to not drowning.

"The team's goal is to make every swimmer on this team feel as though he is part of something bigger. Our main goal is to realize what teamwork is about."

Wayland-Cohocton, meanwhile, is taking a different approach to the season. According to Coach Rob Hughes, the Eagles are more concerned with sectionals than they are with the outcome of their regular-season LCAA and non-league meets.

"Our focus this year has been sectionals," Hughes said. "We're not slowing down for any particular meet or trying to gain an advantage for any meet. We're really training to make some noise in sectionals and we're not going to let up."

page of Garth Lester at 189 pounds. That was followed by pin victories by Campbell-Savona's Logan Wilson (215, 1:31) and Chris McLaughlin (275, 1:35) as the Panthers grabbed control of the scoreboard 24-12.

Anthony DeVito (119), Aaron Nichols (125) and Josh Simons (140) also earned pins for Campbell-Savona. Campbell-Savona's Tyler Romanki (96) and Avoca's Chris Hogan (112) closed the scoring with forfeit wins.

"I thought it was very unexpected that we beat Avoca. We're very young with a lot of freshmen and sophomores," Scolaro said. "But it's still early and we have a lot of work to do."

Campbell-Savona will host Hammondsport Saturday at 9 a.m.

Elsewhere in area H.S. athletics action

Addison 42, Alfred-Almond 29: Addison found itself with a 29-6 disadvantage after the first eight matches against Alfred-Almond, but the big guys for the host Knights got the job done and shutout the Eagles over the next seven en route to a 42-29 SCAA wrestling victory Thursday.

"We stormed back with four pins," said Addison head coach Frank Bielski, referring to the string of consecutive pins Allen English, Chris Snow, Brandon Hively and Josh Stewart put together in the 160, 171, 189 and 215 pound weight classes, respectively.

"We're tough up top," said Bielski, "but our lightweights are decent, they didn't win but they lost by decision instead of pin and that was key."

Addison (1-0, 1-0) will compete in the Elmira Free Academy Christmas Tournament this weekend.

A-A drops to 1-2 overall and 0-1 in SCAA competition.
