Over the past 8 years, Journeymen Athletics and Journeymen Wrestling have played a vital role in showcasing collegiate and international wrestling in New York State's wrestling community. This tradition of excellence continues again this year.

On Nov. 5th, 2006, Journeymen and Binghamton Wrestling emerge as one of the best tandem teams in the sport of amateur wrestling. The newly-formed union is to act as a platform to promote and showcase the great sport of collegiate wrestling in Bearcat country! New Bearcat (Binghamton) Wrestling coaches, Pap Popolizio, Dennis Papadatos and Sean Gibbs, make their official introduction to New York State wrestling by hosting one of the top pre-season wrestling clinics on the East Coast. The BU wrestling staff will set the bar high by establishing a renowned annual fall clinic in NY State's hotbed of wrestling, as well as by establishing a tradition of excellence with Binghamton wrestling.

With wrestling season right around the corner, there's no better tune up than our Fall Wrestling Clinic. Wrestlers and coaches alike have an opportunity to socialize and learn from our sports icons directly. This clinic should prove to be an educational, inspiring and above all, motivational experience.

Help Support Binghamton Wrestling!

Oklahoma State head Coach, John Smith, set a record for the Journeymen 2005 clinic with over 300 participants.
